Registration Updates

- Regatta Fees increased from $43 to $45 (Canadian Dollar) to cover increased cost of hosting the award banquet ceremony.
- Rowing Canada Aviron (RCA) is charging a seat fee of $3.85 (Canadian Dollar) per race event in all 2023 RCA sanctioned Canadian regattas. This fee will appear in each event when clubs register their entries in Regatta Central. All seat fees collected for this regatta go directly to RCA and not to the NWIRA. Thus, all participating clubs will bear the full cost of the seat fee.
- Late entries will be allowed after close of registration and before lane draw. This means that standard registration will close at midnight on Friday, eight days before the regatta. After Friday, entries will be published and clubs can make late entries, scratches and name corrections through Regatta Central until the following Tuesday at 5 p.m. Late Entry Fees is double of the Standard Entry Fees.
- At the coaches meeting on Thursday, August 17, 2023, only scratches and name corrections will be made. No adds. Club requesting scratches will pay scratch fees at the meeting.
- To ensure smooth registration process for the NWIRA, athletes should be a member of their respective rowing association. For example, all US competitors should be a member of the United States Rowing Association (USRA) and all Canadian competitors should be a member of Rowing Canada Aviron (RCA). Regatta Central implemented a process to pull in athletes registered with USRA and RCA.

Entry Rules

- Double and Pair events limit to four entries per club

Each club may submit up to four entries for each double and pair event. This includes the following events:

Depending on the situation during the regatta, such alternations may include one or more of the following:

- Shorten the race from 2000 meters to 1000 meters or shorter if the weather conditions deteriorate enough to cause choppy waters or the regatta is seriously behind schedule.
- Postpone or reschedule races to different time to allow thunderstorm, lightning or other severe weather conditions to pass through.
