

2013 Head of the Ohio – VIEWING

As the course passes along the south shore of the Allegheny River, spectators can view the race from both sides of the river on the Three Rivers Heritage Trail. In addition, the official viewing area will be at the downstream end of Washington's Landing Island where a volunteer will be announcing the races as they pass. Follow signs on the island to this location.

